

1. Location:

- Sailing Route: Sailed north up the Pacific coast of Mexico, encountered the injured whale near Puerto Escondido, headed towards Poro Escondido, arrived in Ixtapa Marina.

- Specific Locations: Porto Escondido, Chakawa, Zio Ateneo, Ixtapa Marina.

2. Sailing Conditions:

- Lack of swell in Porto Escondido, motor sailing due to no wind, rough seas causing noise and boat shaking, challenging passage along the Pacific coast with little to no wind or wind on the nose, calming conditions for a Sunset Cruise.

3. Problems & Fixes:

- Encountered an injured whale with a line wrapped around it, attempted a rescue mission but had to abandon due to safety concerns, difficulties with water shortage and water maker maintenance, drone accidents.

4. Anchorage & Marinas:

- Anchored in Porto Escondido, difficulty finding suitable anchorage due to deep waters and surf breaks, stayed in Ixtapa Marina to tie up the boat temporarily.

5. Safety Measures:

- Crew discussion on risks involved in attempting to free the entangled whale, concern for safety with rough seas and challenging sailing conditions, water conservation practices on board.

6. Wildlife Encounter:

- Close encounter with an injured whale with a line cutting into its body, surrounded by dolphins indicating distress, decision to report the incident and engage in a rescue attempt.

7. Engagement with Local Community:

- Interactions with locals such as Pedro, Backpackers, and Surf enthusiasts, inviting them for activities onboard, exploring local beaches, and sharing experiences.

8. Personal Experiences:

- Reflecting on extreme wildlife encounters, challenges faced during passages, appreciation for the sailing journey despite difficulties, moments of connection and gratitude among the crew.

9. Future Plans:

- Preparation for crossing the entire Pacific Ocean, organizing a Patreon Meetup in Puerto Vallarta, ongoing repairs and upgrades on the boat for long-distance sailing.

10. Conclusion:

- Mixed experiences of challenges and rewards during sailing, determination to continue the circumnavigation despite setbacks, highlighting the unpredictable and fulfilling nature of life at sea.
